

Welcome to FQMom.com!

I'm Rose Fres Fausto, an investment banker turned full-time homemaker and now I write and talk about money and family. I am a Behavioral Economist and Gallup-certified Strengths Coach.

I'm married to my favorite person in the world, fund expert Marvin Fausto, and we have three wonderful sons Martin, Enrique, and Anton.

The serious stuff: I graduated with honors from the Ateneo de Manila University with a degree in Economics. I started my career as a Credit Analyst then became an investment banker, and a financial consultant to a USAID project on renewable energy. I continue to learn through books, workshops, various courses, including an Executive Program on Behavioral Economics at the Harvard Business School in Massachusetts. \(photo of me at work\)

The wacky stuff: I love giving crazy pet names to my loved ones that I pluck from nowhere. I always have fun with my Honey – we still go out on dates, dance at home every week, and we both love to mimic other people. I care about what I wear when I step out of the house, but I still can't resist wearing my worn out comfy pambahays at home. I have a poor sense of direction that I easily get lost, but all my boys say that I'm their life compass. \(photo of me having fun w family\)

The profound stuff: I wrote my first book Raising Pinoy Boys \(note pls make it clickable to the book\) to address my midlife calling to share what I and the mothers of successful Pinoy men learned about the subject matter. The chapter on money matters became a common favorite and paved the way to my weekly PhilStar.com column entitled Raising Children With High FQ, my next FQ books \(link to BOOKS ALSO\), regular contributions to magazines such as Kerygma (now called Feast), Health & Home, Crossroads, etc.

I'm happy to share that my humble FQ Mom efforts have garnered recognitions – the grand prize of the first Sinag Financial Literacy Digital Journalism Award given by SunLife in 2014 and Sheroes (She-Heroes) Honor given by Insular Life in 2019. \(photo of awards\)

Increasing everyone's FQ has become our family's cause. Our individual and family efforts all help to make investing for everyone! \(Click link to find out how\) \(link to consultation\)

1. Pls put any of the photos you have right now
2. Pls put a provision where we could put a short video in the future. Should this also be accessible/viewable from the homepage?

Thanks.
